Thirteenth Event

Annual Educational Tours Include Europe, Hawaii

The 1963 summer educational tours planned by the Department of Social Sciences at Northwestern State College are the most ambitious undertaken in the department's long history of summer tours.

In addition to a tour of the southwest United States, with an optional side-tour to Hawaii, the NSC department has scheduled a tour of Western Europe, the first in a series of overseas tours. Both tours are scheduled during August.

The European Tour

The European tour, which guarantees departure, features visits to some of Europe's capital cities including London, Rome, and Paris. It will also include an itinerary designed to acquaint participants with major geographic features and historic sites in countries visited.

This tour marks the first occasion a state college of Louisiana has offered an overseas trip. Scheduled for departure from New York on Aug. 4, the tour group will travel an estimated 4500 to 5000 miles through eight countries, and return on Aug. 25.

The Southwest and Hawaii

The tour of the United States, thirteenth in the NSC series, travels through the Southwest, with an optional 2,091 mile trip scheduled for the Hawaiian islands.

To leave from Natchitoches on Aug. 4, travel through Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and at San Diego, Calif., the alternate (Plan B) group will depart for Hawaii, to rejoin the other tourists at San Francisco following their visit to the fiftieth state.

On the return trip, the group will visit Las Vegas, Nev., and travel through the Northern sections of the states mentioned before, arriving back in Natchitoches on Aug. 25.

Details Later

Dr. Yvonne Phillips, Head of the Department of Social sciences, stated that all tours are reasonably priced and that college credit will be offered to qualified persons. Additional information will be released following completion of more definite arrangements. In the meantime, persons desiring further information should write: Summer Tours, Department of Social Sciences, Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, La.

Demon Cagers At Home Gym Feb. 5

Coach Huey Cranford's Demon cagers welcome a return to the friendly atmosphere of their home court Feb. 5 after three games on the road. Opening February opponent at home will be Mississippi Southern.

The in-and-out Demons played Nicholls, McNeese, and Southwestern in recent contests away from home, with the latter two being important Gulf States Conference games.

Cranford's squad had a poor record of four wins and nine losses prior to their three-game road schedule. One win was a conference victory over Louisiana Tech by a narrow 82-80 margin in overtime. This victory enabled the Demons to pull up out of the GSC cellar to make room for the Tech Bulldogs.

Northwestern plays six opponents in February, in addition to their game with the Southerners. They meet Southeastern, Southwestern, and Centenary at home and Louisiana College, East Texas Baptist, and Louisiana Tech in road tilts.

Guard Tommy Mathis has been the most consistent performer for the Demons and should vie for a position on the All-GSC team. Mathis has averaged better than 17 points per game overall and 19 in GSC contests.

LETTERS

Mr. Joe W. Webb
Natchitoches, La.

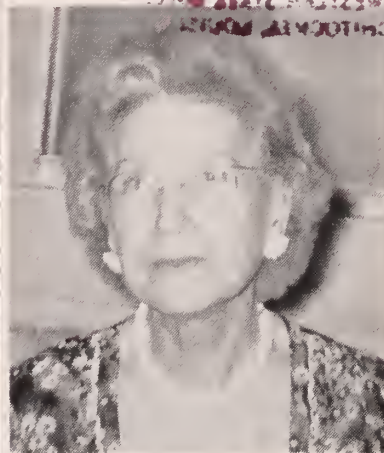

Dear Mr. Webb:

It was very kind of you to take time on that hot summer day, July 25, 1962, to show us the campus and buildings of Northwestern State College. Time races on! After fifty years away from Normal Hill I felt like a stranger in a strange land, but so very happy to see that NSC had kept pace with the rest of the educational institutions.

You requested the 1909 Normal

CHARLES L. BARNETTE, BS '51, a native of Natchitoches, has recently been appointed southeastern district manager of equipment sales for the General Electric Receiving Tube Department.

Demon Gridders Open Spring Drills Feb. 4

With the end of the 1962 football season little more than two months past, Coach Jack Clayton and his assistants are already eager for the start of spring football drills scheduled for Feb. 4.

Clayton plans afternoon drills six days a week until March 6, when the annual spring game will climax the off-season practice sessions.

The Demons won the Gulf States Conference championship for the first time in 1962. Clayton will have an opportunity to get a look at replacements for several gridders lost from the squad through graduation or academic deficiencies.

Miss MARY ANN MAGOUN,

Louisiana Studies Institute Completes First Year; Publication Is Success

With the issuance of the January edition of Louisiana Studies, publication of the Louisiana Studies Institute at Northwestern, the first year of the Institute's existence was marked, with acceptance of the organization and publication far exceeding the hopes of the founders.

Dr. George A. Stokes, who has directed the Institute since its inception, stated that in keeping with the scope of the Institute, articles appearing in the first three numbers of Louisiana Studies have dealt with a wide variety of Louisiana areas of study. Fields represented to date include biology, anthropology and archeology, government, history, agriculture, geography and climatology, literature and biography.

New Issue Released

The January issue (Vol. I, No. 1) includes articles on the Black-Clear-Saline lake area near Natchitoches; the Journal of Espy Williams, a New Orleans playwright of the late 1800's; and a discussion of research opportunities in Spanish Louisiana.

Articles on all fields of study relating to Louisiana are actively sought for publication. Authors of articles are principally Louisianians, but Texans are also represented. International contact is indicated by the articles of a Fulbright scholar in Spain and a teacher at the University College of Wales.

The publication has been well received and, in addition to the individual, library, and school subscriptions throughout the State, subscribers from New York to California pay the $3.50 annual rate.

Several Projects Inaugurated

Dr. Stokes states that the purpose of the Institute is to promote a greater knowledge and understanding of Louisiana and its setting. According to the director, although Louisiana Studies has been the significant accomplishment, a number of other projects have been inaugurated during the Institute's first year.

One of the most important undertakings was the establishment of a photographic library for research on and preservation of the Louisiana scene. The initial collection contains over 1000 color and black-and-white photographs representing most areas of the State.

Oldest photograph in the collection is dated 1893, and every decade of the twentieth century is represented, with the bulk of the photographs being made during the 1950's. Contributions of prints and negatives, new and old, are being sought by the Institute from individuals and organizations.

The Institute also includes among its projects assisting the continued development of the Louisiana archives in the North-
